Fikile Mkhize 0210210785080
US119462
B. SUMMATIVE PRACTICAL TASKS

Question 1
Personality clashes
1. Set ground rules for respect and listening.
2. Separate clashing members during discussions and focus on ideas, not people. Remind the group of the common goal.
Disagreements
1. Encourage everyone to give reasons and evidence for their view.
2. Find common ground or compromise, and if needed, vote or escalate to management for a final decision.

Question 2
1. Start with a hook - use a question, story, or interesting fact to gain attention
2. Yse clear, confident voice - good volume, pace, and enthusiasm.
3. Use visuals/aids- slides, charts, or props to make it interesting.
4. Engage the audience - ask questions, make eye contact, involve them.
5. Use body language - gestures, movement, and facial expressions to stay lively.

Question 3
1. Insults or name-calling- e.g. "You're useless"

Fikile Mkhize 0210210785080
US119462
2. Slang/swear words - profanity
3. Discriminatory remarks - about race, gender, religion, disability
4. Sarcastic/rude tone-e.g. "Obviously you don't understand"

Question 4
1. Builds trust or doubt- Eye contact and open posture make you seem confident and honest.
2. Shows interest- Nodding and facing the audience shows you care about them.
3. Reinforces the message* - Gestures help emphasize key points.
4. Affects understanding- Crossed arms or looking away can make audience lose interest or misunderstand.
5. Sets the tone - Smiling creates a positive atmosphere, while frowning can make audience defensive.

Question 5

Example: At a rally, a speaker was asked why unemployment increased.
How they evaded responsibilit
1.Blamed others- "The previous government caused this problem, not us."
2. Used passive voice - "Mistakes were made in the economy" instead of "We made mistakes".
3. Gave vague promises- "We will fix it soon" without saying how or when.

Fikile Mkhize 0210210785080
US119462

4. Changed the subject- Started talking about new projects instead of answering the unemployment question.
5. Minimized the issue-"Only a small number of people are affected, it's not that serious."